Excellence is our Mantra...

There are better Glories ahead than the one`s we achieved

Sports bring the world together! India is a country of over a billion people. Imagine the talent, capabilities, and potential we have in our store. Surprisingly, even after being a storehouse of human resources, only about 2% of our masses participate in sports regularly. Is it because of lack of infrastructure or lack of opportunities, or does the interest of the Indian society lack interest in sports? Or has it something to do with the affordability and availability of proper guidance to aspiring sportspersons? Through this we will try to answer these questions by understanding the scope of the different forms of sports in India and gauging what the future holds for the sporting industry in India.

A talent pool with hidden qualities: Our nation is a storehouse of talent, especially in the field of sports. But this talent hasn't been explored and given its due limelight. It might be because of lack of motivation and the support of political system and most significantly, the recognition by the public as they only care about colonial cricketing.

Glorious past is our pride: In ancient times in our country, sports were given due importance by both parents and teachers. People back then understood that indulging in sports was essential for a child's physical and mental well-being. Activities like martial arts, archery, swordsmanship, lifting weights etc., were very famous and respected by one and all in those era. The students were asked to engage in friendly spars as well. The evidence of the active sportsmanship in India can also be found in the epics of Mahabharata and Ramayana.

We will come out of oppression: The biased approach of parents towards sports is one of the major reasons which thwarted the growth of this much deserving industry. Furthermore, the ignorance of the sports authorities also played a part in the depletion of the popularity of other forms of sport except Cricket in India. But in the last one decade, the Indian sports scene is taking a keen interest in all kinds of sports, resulting in the growth of participation, viewership and sports-related industries. India's improving economic climate, rising disposable incomes, and changing outlook fuel the increase in demand for sports-related goods and services.

Sky is no more a limit: India can emerge as a sporting nation as the sporting industry has raised from scratches in the last few years. Now there are Millions of sports enthusiasts in India and the number is going to increase many folds in coming years. The government has made a lot of efforts and investments in athletic facilities and training, which will pump out more athletes and sportspersons in times to come. These growth literarily increased the employment opportunities as well. It has also given hope to young people who dream of competing internationally someday.

Khelo India impacts at great extent: By making changes in the perception of sports in the minds of people, Khelo India take initiative from grass root level to assist children during their schooling years and building a strong foundation towards sports and its performance.. It's also leads to great career opportunities in the sports industry.

Hard work meet Performance: We were always been a sporting enthusiast since our ancient era, but lost the stream in between due to various reasons. But with a new found energy and pride accompanied by a great route map for developing sports the hard work of our athletes start yielding results. These effects are visible on the performance of Indian athletes during many international events in recent years/months. With improved sports infrastructure and scientific training programs along with a committed sports administration it will further go a long way. Changes are inevitable and we are at the right path as there are many talents coming out from all the Olympics sports events.

Better things ahead: The constant efforts of the Indian government, private supporting firms, sponsors and undoubtedly hardworking athletes have brought India out of the shadow of colonial willows. That is definitely taking us to a podium finish at international sports avenues.
